

The background is a dark, industrial scene featuring a welder in a blue protective suit working on a metal structure. Bright orange sparks are flying from the welding point on the left. The scene is overlaid with a semi-transparent dark grey layer. Several white and black rounded square outlines are scattered across the image, some appearing as if they are floating or attached to the scene. At the bottom, a film strip border contains a series of small, sequential images showing various industrial and construction activities.
